DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's Revocation of Attorney, received 31March2004, is acknowledged.
2. Applicant's Response to Office Action, received 3September2004, is acknowledged.

Claims 1-8 have been canceled.

3. Claims 9-12 are pending and under consideration.

Rejections Withdrawn

4. The rejection of claims 9-12 under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, written description, is withdrawn in light of applicant's arguments.

Rejections Maintained

5. The rejection of claims 9-12 under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Gennaro et al (U.S. Pat. No. 6,087,163) is maintained for reasons of record.

Applicant argues that Gennaro et al fails to disclose any polypeptides derived from the entire amino sequences for MPT63 and MPT28 nor disclose any methodology that one skilled in the art could use to identify any antigenic epitopes within the full sequences, let alone the antigenic polypeptide claimed by applicant.

The examiner has considered applicant's argument, but does not find it persuasive. As discussed in the prior office action, the specification only predicts sequences which may be epitopes and utilize only in vitro proliferation assays using cells from human subjects. There are no examples of any in vivo induction of immune responses. Gennaro et al do teach that one can utilize fragments of SEQ ID NO:2, of which claimed SEQ ID NO:69 is included, and identical to the instant specification, teach in vitro assays. As with the instant specification,

Art Unit: 1645

Gennaro et al also teach that portions of the MPT63 protein can be useful as components of a protein-based or subunit vaccine (col. 9, lines 6-11). Thus, Gennaro et al provides the same evidence for methods of inducing immune responses as does the instant specification, i.e., in vitro assays, with speculation on in vivo methods utilizing the peptides claimed.

Conclusion

6. No claims are allowed.

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
